

Conflict of Interest Disclosure Form

The World Glaucoma Association have applied for accreditation from the European Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education Institution of the UEMS. The guidelines dictate that that disclosure must be made to the audience whether you do or do not have a relationship with a commercial entity such as a pharmaceutical organization, medical device company or communications firm. Disclosure is not intended to restrict content but to inform the audience that a financial relationship exists in order to ensure balance, independence, objectivity, and scientific rigor in the accredited educational activity.

Through an agreement between the UEMS and the American Medical Association, physicians may convert EACCME credits to an equivalent number of AMA PRA Category. So this is very important for our US participants as well.

All planning committee members and faculty MUST disclose any and all financial interest or ‘in kind’ relationships with commercial organizations over the previous five years, not just those relevant to the subject being discussed. Examples of financial relationships include but are not limited to: any direct financial interest in the organization, investments held in the organization, membership on advisory boards or committees, current or recent participation in clinical trials sponsored by the organization, member of speakers’ bureau, holding a patent for a product, etc.

Failure to disclose or false disclosure may result in your removal from the activity and/or committee.
